Town of Bluffton Christmas Toy Drive

The Town of Bluffton will be collecting toys again this year to give to Bluffton children who otherwise may not have gifts under their tree Christmas morning.

You can drop off unwrapped toys for ages 0-12 at four different locations from now until December 13.

This year the Town is partnering with Bluffton Self Help, Collins Group Realty, and Sentry Management to ensure many Bluffton families are able to benefit from the Toy Drive. The Collins Group Realty will also have several different toy drop-off locations along the Bluffton Christmas Parade route which will be held in Old Town on Saturday, December 7 at 10 a.m. There will also be boxes placed in the staging areas of the parade for parade participants to also donate a toy.

The gifts collected range from toys, clothing, footballs, soccer balls, skateboards, and makeup. Most items are usually geared towards the younger ages, but we encourage those donating to also look for gifts for the children 9 years old and up.

"What started out as a toy drive for a few Bluffton families has transitioned into a true community effort. We appreciate the partners we have gathered over the years to make this a Christmas these children will remember forever," said Bluffton Police Chief Chris Chapmond.
